Othman Alikhan

Since last meeting:

- Setup all the issues on the wiki and allocate them to people (essentially work allocation)
- Write up the coding conventions document and upload it
- Update the wiki structure slightly here and there
- Changed the unit tests in the Client class so that they are proper unit tests (i.e. unit tests no longer require setting up a server to test)

Until next meeting:

- Develop the GUI for the Client class
- Add further contribution to Client class (i.e. improve the connection implementation between the client and server)

Current problems:

- Time constraints due to other pending coursework

Further Notes

It seems using virtual meetings as oppose to a physical meeting has its own risks; for the time being, the next meetings are to be physical rather than virtual.
